Complete turnkey support

Structured training plan

We provide training for you on-site, online, or both by professionals who know your industry. Our experience and knowledge will help identify areas where you can optimize your business processes. And in some cases, we will recommend alternative solutions, always in keeping with your company legacy.

Post-implementation support

Implementations are rarely a one and done event. We typically make post-implementation adjustments to ensure that the Ogasys solution is deployed to its maximum potential. During post-implementation operations, we focus on any areas of improvement in order to optimize performance results. Your dedicated account manager will be on hand throughout this process to answer your questions and meet your requirements.

Customer care

You will speak with a real person—not an automated system. Your call will then be directed to a management centre which speeds up processing and ensures that you get a timely response. For more complex requests, your call will be assigned to one of our experts. They will then take the time to thoroughly assess your issue, evaluate its impact, and recommend the best possible solution.
